

Your Partner in Growth

Knowledge Elements helps our higher education partners expand their academic offerings with specially designed online, blended, high school dual credit and credit for prior learning programs; all delivered in an easy to understand shared-revenue model. Each element is designed to complement your current programs and align with your overall mission. Having worked with more than 150 colleges over the past 25 years, KE is ready to partner with you and deliver the expertise and services needed to ensure your success.

Online Programs

Our component-based model allows you to offer a complete array of online courses with no upfront costs; as a supplement to an existing program or by building a robust program from the ground up. The flexible user-friendly platform allows you to use our course schedule, curricula and faculty or build your own courses and use your own instructors in customized offering periods – or just about anything in between.

Blended Programs, including a V-learning MBA for the 21st Century Student

Our proven programs allow working students with about two years of college to complete their bachelor's degree in two years or less by taking one online class at a time with optional onsite sessions. Our partnership model means KE works with you to achieve accreditation approval, build the best program for you and your community, and even help recruit the first cohorts of students. Our new V-learning MBA allows students to participate in a virtual executive apprenticeship with a real company. Participants can complete their MBA in 1 year in a fully-immersive online environment.

High School Dual Credit

When you partner with KE to offer Dual Credit Programs you will be able to extend your reach by allowing qualified Academy and Homeschool juniors and seniors to experience the rigors of college level coursework. They will receive both High School and College credit for courses, become part of your extended family, and ideal prospects for attending your College after finishing High School.

CPL Complete

Add this hassle-free turnkey system today and watch your enrollments grow. Based on CAEL and ACE standards, CPL Complete delivers the resources you need to compete with leading colleges and universities who are already using Credit for Prior Learning to accelerate their growth. This streamlined three-step process guides you and your students through the often frustrating maze of applying for and granting these valuable credits. You simply approve the system, enroll students and grant the credits. As your partner, we handle all the details in between.

Marketing, Training and Consulting

KE offers a full range of services to all of our partners. Our marketing team helps develop and execute comprehensive campaigns including traditional and new media and extensive social networking. We provide tailor-made training for staff and faculty through expert consulting on everything from accreditation to fundraising.

Virtual Financial Aid & Bookstore

Through strategic alliances with industry leading providers, our partners can utilize a complete virtual financial aid office and bookstore. Submit financial aid forms, have files reviewed to meet federal compliance and receive approvals online. The virtual bookstore delivers textbooks and other course resources, as well as, promotional items on-demand; including t-shirts, mugs, and a host of other items with your school logo.
